Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend. Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County." The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky. The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss. "The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added. The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type' to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris S7L offset press, Cuevas said. The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time. That press was replaced after being damaged by salt water spray from Hurricane Camille when the newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building. The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time. The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian. G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue. The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation. "There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.
He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."
Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.
He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.
Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Authorities are investigating the author of an anonymous letter sent to the Bay St. Louis school board last week which is purported to be critical of the board's selection of a new superintendent.
Board President Betty Diboll told the board Thursday night she understood the Federal Bureau of Investigation as well as law enforcement looking into the incident.

The letter was distributed to board members at a meeting earlier in the week and brought up at the end of the meeting by member Linda Penrose.
Also at that meeting Penrose requested the appointment of Dr. Roger D. Oge as superintendent be postponed until questions suggested Diboll said Thursday night she had not called the meeting to report on an investigation of Oge but rather to present her findings on the letter.

"I did not investigate Dr. Oge because I did not have to do so," she said.

Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type' to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris STL offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after be-

Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type'

to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris S7L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after being damaged by salt water spray from Hurricane Camille when the newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building.

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation.

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."

Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Lizana also said there were many factors that prevented the firefighters from controlling the fire earlier.

"Everything seemed to be against us at the fire," Lizana said.

The building was a wooden structure with a suspended ceiling and a tin roof.

"When the fire got in between the ceiling and the roof it was just like lighting an oven and shutting the door," Lizana said.

He added that heat became so intense that fire trucks had to be moved.

With a good wind, the fire would have probably spread to Bobby's lounge, a wooden structure across the street, Lizana said.

Lizana also said in spite of a significant amount of rain Wednesday, the fire department had returned.

That the suspect, after the "as committed, took the car, two guns and the victim, but none of these items found," Peterson said. Frisbie said Willis had told him in Pasadena, where he is with burglary, that he had the vehicle with the keys near a service station in Pasadena.

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative." Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Order suspect from Texas

More Justice Court Judge Barbara Peterson Friday morning when public Defender William Frisbie appointed his attorney.

Search for Toca's dark blue 1976 Ford Ranch Wagon Custom 500 is continuing in Pasadena.

We feel that the suspect, after the order was committed, took the victim's car, two guns and the victim's wallet, but none of these items have been found," Peterson said.

The sheriff said Willis had told authorities in Pasadena, where he is charged with burglary, that he had abandoned the vehicle with the keys to it near a service station somewhere in Pasadena.

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."

Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Continuing at destroyed section of the Marshall Norman Cowart visited the site Thursday to gather evidence that will be used to determine the cause of the fire. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock) estimated the building was at 75 years old.

ana also said he had been told here was no insurance on the building or the contents.

"The matter is still being investigated but we just don't suspect arson at this time," Lizana emphasized.

According to Lizana, State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart was at the site Thursday and is also investigating the incident.

Lizana also said there were many factors that prevented the firefighters from controlling the fire earlier.

"Everything seemed to be against us at the fire," Lizana said.

The building was a wooden structure with a suspended ceiling and a tin roof.

"When the fire got in between the ceiling and the roof it was just like lighting an oven and shutting the door," Lizana said.

He added that heat became so intense that fire trucks had to be moved.

With a good wind, the fire would have probably spread to Bobby's lounge, a wooden structure across the street, Lizana said.

Lizana also said in spite of a significant amount of rain Wednesday, the fire department had returned.

Authorities are investigating the author of an anonymous letter sent to the Bay St. Louis school board last week which is purported to be critical of the board's selection of a new superintendent.

Board President Betty Diboll told the board Thursday night she understood the Federal Bureau of Investigation as well as law enforcement authorities in Louisiana are looking into the incident.

The letter was distributed to board members at a meeting earlier in the week and brought up at the end of the meeting by member Linda Penrose.

Also at that meeting Penrose requested the appointment of Dr. Roger D. Oge as superintendent be postponed until questions suggested in the letter about his credentials could be answered.

Diboll said Thursday night she had not called the meeting to report on an investigation of Oge but rather to present her findings on the letter.

"I did not investigate Dr. Oge because I did not have to do so," she said.

Diboll added that Oge had been

Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type' to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris 57L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after being damaged by salt water spray from Hurricane Camille when the newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building.

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation.

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.

Toca murder suspect from Texas

before Justice Court Judge Barbara Frierson Friday morning when Public Defender William Frisbie was appointed his attorney.

A search for Toca's dark blue 1976 Ford Ranch Wagon Custom 500 is continuing in Pasadena.

"We feel that the suspect, after the murder was committed, took the victim's car, two guns and the victim's wallet, but none of these items have been found," Peterson said.

The sheriff said Willis had told authorities in Pasadena, where he is charged with burglary, that he had abandoned the vehicle with the keys inside it near a service station somewhere in Pasadena.

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."

Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

nywhere around the building would probably have been destructive," Lizana said.

He estimated the building was at least 75 years old.

Lizana also said he had been told at there was no insurance on the building or the contents.

"The matter is still being investigated but we just don't suspect arson at this time," Lizana emphasized.

According to Lizana, State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart was at the site Thursday and is also investigating the incident.

Lizana also said there were many factors that prevented the firefighters from controlling the fire earlier.

"Everything seemed to be against us at the fire," Lizana said.

The building was a wooden structure with a suspended ceiling and a tin roof.

"When the fire got in between the ceiling and the roof it was just like lighting an oven and shutting the door," Lizana said.

He added that heat became so intense that fire trucks had to be moved.

With a good wind, the fire would have probably spread to Bobby's lounge, a wooden structure across the street, Lizana said.

Lizana also said in spite of a significant amount of rain Wednesday, the fire department had returned.

Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type' to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris 57L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after being damaged by salt water spray from Hurricane Camille when the newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building.

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation.

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.

Authorities are investigating the author of an anonymous letter sent to the Bay St. Louis school board last week which is purported to be critical of the board's selection of a new superintendent.

Board President Betty Diboll told the board Thursday night she understood the Federal Bureau of Investigation as well as law enforcement authorities in Louisiana are looking into the incident.

The letter was distributed to board members at a meeting earlier in the week and brought up at the end of the meeting by member Linda Penrose.

Also at that meeting Penrose requested the appointment of Dr. Roger D. Oge' as superintendent be postponed until questions suggested in the letter about his credentials could be answered.

Diboll said Thursday night she had not called the meeting to report on an investigation of Oge' but rather to present her findings on the letter.

"I did not investigate Dr. Oge' because I did not have to do so," she said.

Diboll added that Oge' had been

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

On anonymous letter

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Authorities are investigating the author of an anonymous letter sent to the Bay St. Louis school board last week which is purported to be critical of the board's selection of a new superintendent.

Board President Betty Diboll told the board Thursday night she understood the Federal Bureau of Investigation as well as law enforcement

ment authorities in Louisiana are looking into the incident.

The letter was distributed to board members at a meeting earlier in the week and brought up at the end of the meeting by member Linda Penrose.

Also at that meeting Penrose requested the appointment of Dr. Roger D. Oge as superintendent be postponed until questions suggested in the letter about his credentials could be answered.

Diboll said Thursday night she had not called the meeting to report on an investigation of Oge but rather to present her findings on the letter.

"I did not investigate Dr. Oge because I did not have to do so," she said.

Diboll added that Oge had been

Echo installs News King press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type'

to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris S7L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell, which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after be-

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation.

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.

Recreation facility planned for Waveland

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Coleman Avenue property presently occupied by the Pepper mill Restaurant building is the planned site for a new recreational complex.

Dix Ashman and Tommy Kidd, two of the 18 shareholders in Recreation and Relaxation, Inc., addressed the Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday concerning their firm's plans for the property, also known as the Haverty's Restaurant land.

Ashman said the project will take from four to six months to complete and will include a restaurant, lawn bowling greens, health club equipment, a billiard room, meeting rooms, hot tubs, an auditorium that will seat 400 to 600 people and possibly racquetball courts.

Some of the facilities will be in the existing building and others will be in an 8,000 square foot building to be constructed behind the existing restaurant and attached by a covered walkway.

Parking for the complex will extend from Coleman Avenue back to St. Joseph Street.

Ashman said he hopes to set up some dinner theater events in the complex, but most of the time the facilities will be used for competitive games like darts or shuffleboard, civic meetings and similar programs.

In addition, the firm hopes to set up some events for teenagers. The restaurant will be operated as a profit-making business but Recreation and Relaxation Inc. hopes to lease the rest of the complex to non-profit groups, he added.

One proposed feature of the complex, Kidd added, is a Waveland Mardi Gras and Parade Museum. Under the proposal, Mardi Gras and parade costumes and other memorabilia would be displayed throughout the two buildings.

Ashman said he hopes the museum aspect will attract out-of-town visitors who are unfamiliar with Mardi Gras tradition as well as local residents who have participated in parades and other events.

The board of aldermen was not requested to take any action on the proposed complex, but the city has agreed to assist the developers with matters like utilities and street lamps.

In other business, the board:

—Approved a waiver of the city's right to object to expansion of the Waveland wastewater treatment facility during the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District's current improvement project;

—Raised salaries for the city's police and fire chiefs $50 per month with $25 per month raises for policemen and firefighters at a total expenditure of about $10,000 per year; and —Approved advertising for the purchase of four pumps for sewerage pumping stations.

The board meets again at 7:30 p.m. April 1.

Toca murder suspect returned from Texas

BY DENA BISNETTE

A teenaged suspect in the murder of Rene J. Toca Jr. of Springwood Park has been extradited from Texas to Hancock County and has been provided with an attorney.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Eugene Bertram Willis, 19, of Pasadena, Texas, was transferred from the Harris County Jail in Pasadena to the Hancock County Jail Thursday and is now awaiting an April 21 preliminary hearing.

Willis is being held without bond because he is charged with capital murder.

Willis made an initial appearance

before Justice Court Judge Barbara Frierson Friday morning when Public Defender William Frisbie was appointed his attorney.

A search for Toca's dark blue 1976 Ford Ranch Wagon Custom 500 is continuing in Pasadena.

"We feel that the suspect, after the murder was committed, took the victim's car, two guns and the victim's wallet, but none of these items have been found," Peterson said.

The sheriff said Willis had told authorities in Pasadena, where he is charged with burglary, that he had abandoned the vehicle with the keys inside it near a service station somewhere in Pasadena.

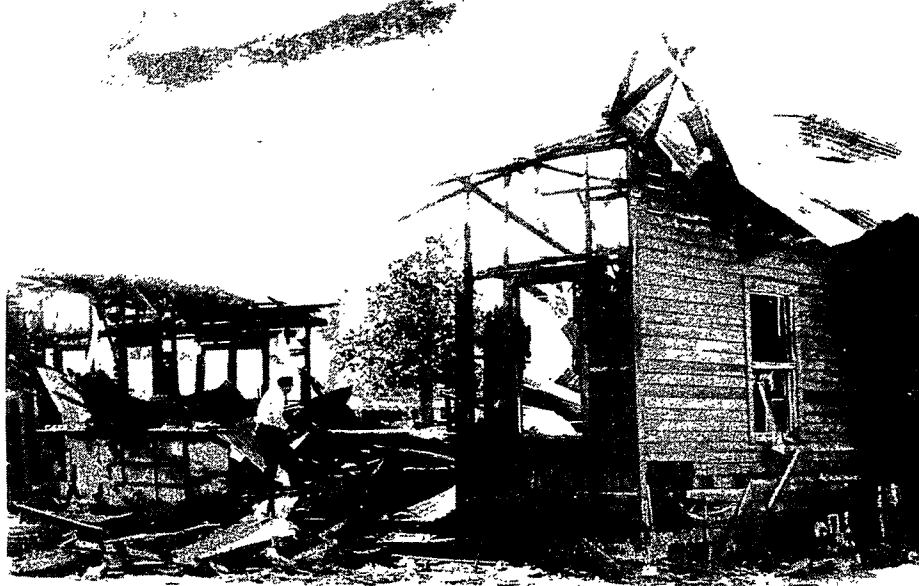

"We feel at this point that the two guns were sold to a truck driver and the wallet was thrown out on the interstate," Peterson said.

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."

Toca apparently died at about 3 p.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother, a New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had apparently occurred during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Fire destroys Big Five Lounge

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Cause of a fire which destroyed the Big Five Club at the corner of Sycamore and St. Francis streets in Bay St. Louis early Wednesday morning remains undetermined.

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew said Friday several factors had led officials to believe at this time that arson is not a cause of the fire which took firefighters nearly two hours to get under control.

Lizana said the fire had started inside the building and that there were no signs of forcible entry into the club which is owned by James Smith of 215 Olivari St., Waveland.

"With a building that old, it would not have been necessary to start a fire inside the building, a fire anywhere around the building would probably have been destructive," Lizana said.

He estimated the building was at least 75 years old.

Lizana also said he had been told that there was no insurance on the building or the contents.

WLOX-TV 13 will sponsor simultaneous Health Fairs at Edgewater Mall and Singing River Mall on Saturday, April 5, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., according to John Hash, president of WLOX-TV 13.

She explained that blood chemistry tests, which normally cost a minimum of $65, will be processed by Med Path Labs in conjunction with the National Health Science Council for Volunteer Organizations, Inc., for a $10 charge which covers actual expense. For an additional $5, a cardiac risk profile will be run.

Divine Word Missionaries ordained

Four Divine Word Missionaries - Robert Kelly, Brian Walker, Enrique Huerta-Casteneda, and Peter Sam Cao Nguyen - were ordained priests the weekend of March 14-16.

Fr. Huerta-Casteneda, SVD, was ordained in Los Angeles, Calif., on March 14 by Archbishop Roger Mahoney.

Frs. Kelly, Nguyen and Walker were ordained at Divine Word International Chapel in Techny, Ill., on Saturday, March 15, by Bishop J. Terry Steib, SVD, auxiliary of St. Louis.

Fr. Walker and Fr. Kelly are both natives of Chicago and Fr. Nguyen, born in Saigon, Vietnam, now calls Fort Worth, Texas, home. Fr. Enrique was born in Mortero Tierra Nueva, Mexico.

Fr. Nguyen came to the U.S. in 1975 and graduated from St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis in 1977.

He received his BA at Divine Word College in Epworth, Iowa, in 1981.

Fr. Kelly was born in Evergreen Park, Ill., and attended grammar school in Chicago at St. Sabina and St. Francis DeSales. He is a graduate of Quigley South High School and Loyola University in Chicago.

Fr. Walker was born in Chicago. His grade school education was at Corpus Christi and St. Anselms schools in Chicago. He also attended Quigley South High School and graduated from Loyola University.

Fr. Huerta-Casteneda came to the U.S. in 1978 and joined Divine Word Missionaries at Casa Guadalupe House of Studies in Los Angeles.

All four men completed their novitiate year at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis and studied theology at Catholic Theological Union in Chicago where they will graduate in June, 1986.

The newly ordained are members of the Society of the Divine Word, an international Catholic missionary order of brothers and priests working in more than 50 countries throughout the world.

Librarian reports effect of budget cuts on local libraries

Governor Bill Allain's recommendation to abolish the $1.7 million personnel incentive grants program administered by the Mississippi Library Commission would mean the destruction of public libraries in Mississippi as they now exist.

According to MLC director David Woodburn, the loss of the state funding would also jeopardize an additional $1.37 million in federal funds for public libraries through the Library Services and Construction Act.

Woodburn explained that LSCA requires that state funds to the agency be maintained at a certain level in order to qualify for the federal funds.

Hancock County would not only lose an annual cash grant the local library receives, but would face loss of many in-kind services the state library agency provides to local library users. This would mean elimination of services which the local library could no longer provide without state equipment and support personnel.

Statewide, abolishment of the personnel incentive grants program would mean the loss of 83 professional library positions and 183 clerical or para-professional library jobs.

In addition, public libraries in Mississippi report that, should the program be discontinued, as many as 27 (11 percent) libraries would close and book budgets could be cut more than $500,000 (28 percent) across the state.

Furthermore, loss of state and federal funds would affect the county library system in other ways.

Interlibrary loan services in local libraries would be virtually discontinued due to lack of funds for the state library which acts as a hub for statewide interlibrary loan activities.

Local libraries would not receive updated Mississippi Union Catalogs which list public library book holdings and enables sharing of materials by the state's libraries.

The state library's book budget, already cut to a minimal level by previous cuts, would be zeroed out, crippling reference services to local libraries which depend on the state library to provide reference and technical collections which most libraries can not provide.

All federal grants to public libraries would be eliminated and public education support, including printed materials for programming, would be discontinued.

Loss of state funds would eliminate federal funds for services to 5,000 blind and physically handicapped patrons including Hancock County residents who receive this service from the state library through their local branch library.

"Public libraries are an essential part of the state's public education effort," said Woodburn. "We hope the legislature will consider the personnel incentive grants program carefully and not dismantle public library services at a time when other educational institutions are relying more heavily than ever on their local public libraries," he continued.

Telephone customers to get second chance at long distance pick

South Central Bell customers in Hancock County who didn't select a long distance company to carry most '1+' and '0+' calls in December will get a second chance to do so soon.

And if they don't make a choice, South Central Bell will assign them one at random.

Customers whose telephone numbers begin with 466, 467, 531, and 533 who did not return the ballot South Central Bell sent them in December will get a second ballot this week, according to Pat Santucci, district manager. That ballot, like the one sent in December, lists the long distance companies offering service in Bay St. Louis and Pearl-Long and urges customers to select a company.

But ballots customers are getting this week will have one very important feature the earlier ones didn't have—the name of the long distance company the customer will be assigned if he fails to choose.

The tentative assignments are based on the percentage of customers who selected various long distance companies on the first ballot. By marking and returning the ballot, the customer may have his '1+' and '0+' calls channeled to the long distance company of his choice.

If the customer doesn't mark and return the ballot, his '1+' and '0+' calls will be channeled to the assigned long distance company.

The effort to get customers to choose is part of the plan to provide 'equal access,' which gives customers their choice of long distance companies for '1+' and '0+' calls.

"The whole idea of equal access is to give customers a choice. It's important that customers take advantage of that choice," said Santucci.

No matter which long distance company the customer selects as his 'preferred' company, South Central Bell will continue to carry '1+' and '0+' calls inside its geographic service, areas, or calling zones.

Quotables by Cuevas

Spring's entry felt like winter was coming back with the cold North winds blowing.

Early gardeners were busy Thursday evening covering tender vegetables because of the sudden change in the weather.

My red potatoes are about six inches high, and I did not waste any time in covering them in case of the possible freeze scheduled for Friday night.

Winter may still have a few more surprises, for one thing my few tomato plants survived the winter. On one bush I collected 10 nice and red tomatoes last weekend, and still have some small ones coming along.

The secret of course is to keep the frost from burning them by using a covering when the temperatures drop.

The Sea Coast Echo's telephones were ringing 'off the wall,' as the saying goes, on Thursday with customers wondering what had happened to their paper.

The reason for the delay was an updating in our printing press at the Echo. We had a few 'bugs' to work out on the new press we purchased from Pikeville, Ky.

Our local Justice Court judges are taking every opportunity to keep up with the latest in their field.

Justice Court Judges Joe Dobson and Barbara Frierson attended a Judicial Seminar in Jackson March 17-19.

The seminar was conducted by the Mississippi Judicial College and covered such subjects as constitutional law, evidence, driving under the influence, civil cases, inquests, and judicial performance.

Those are some of the many types of cases our Justice Court judges are faced with each session.

It is good to know our local judges are keeping abreast of current developments relating to the courts.

We noted several of Supervisor Sam Perniciaro's crewmen busy clearing the grounds of the new Hancock Medical Center site on US-90.

Perniciaro said the county is trying to save as many of the large trees as possible at the site and are even moving several in the way of the boulevard entrance to the new facility which is scheduled to open in January 1987.

Construction on the Hancock Medical Center is really cranking up, but as most of you know, in building it takes awhile before things begin to show.

You may want to drive down Longfellow Drive and view the progress on the new hospital.

Due to the construction and installation of the sewer and water lines, Longfellow is a little rough in a few places, so you want to drive with caution.

It is Spring Pilgrimage time for our communities.

On Wednesday, NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories and the Mississippi Welcome Center on I-10 in Hancock County are on the tour.

Thursday will mark the tour in Bay St. Louis and Friday will mark Diamondhead's.

We know there will be many visitors from out of town on the tours, and we are hoping there also will be a large turnout of local residents.

We know the Garden Clubs are hoping for good local participation.

LESSONS FROM THE TENNESSEE EXPERIENCE

Where's the model for America in this competitive field of economic development?

Most of us would agree that the State of Tennessee is setting the pace for all the other states.

Tennessee, under the leadership of Governor Lamar Alexander, has landed a major division of General Motors; it has lured more than 30 Japanese manufacturing and service firms into the state with combined investments of more than one billion dollars; it has enacted governor succession; and now Tennessee is leading the way in its massive education reform effort.

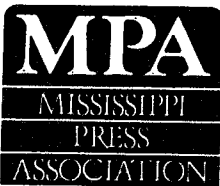

It was recognition of Tennessee's success story which prompted the Mississippi Economic Council to invite Governor Alexander to address the membership of that business organization in Jackson in April.

And, Governor Alexander has accepted the invitation.

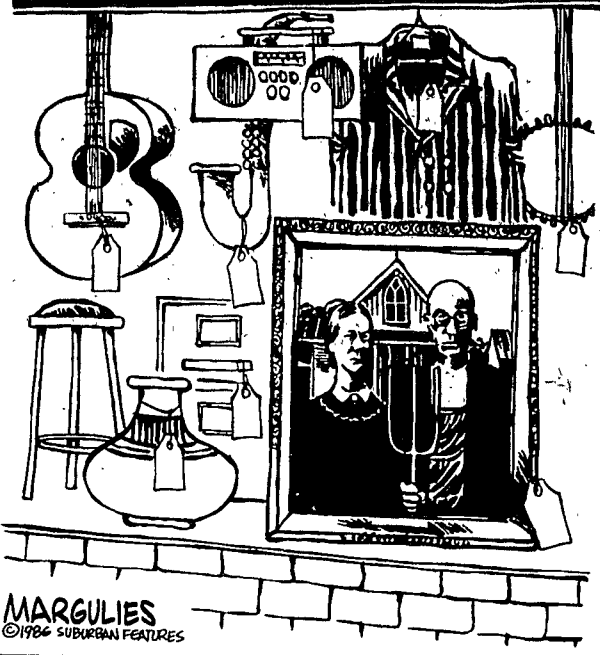

So, on April 17, in Jackson, Governor Alexander will be relating the experiences of his state to an audience of Mississippi business, professional, industrial, and political leaders.

There are lessons to be learned from Tennessee. You may want to be a part of that audience.

Matters of Health

The Deaf: attitudes are slow to change

Hearing loss is a disability that comes every day for more than 16 million people in the U.S. In fact, hearing loss is the most common chronic disability in this country.

Nearly two million people are considered completely deaf — they can't understand or hear speech.

More and more adults will face the difficulties of hearing loss as the population ages. Studies show more than 40 percent of the adults more than 65-years-old have hearing disabilities.

The first signs of hearing loss include difficulties in hearing conversation, distinguishing certain words and identifying the direction or source of sounds. Many people ignore these symptoms and delay seeking professional help for suspected hearing impairment.

Causes of hearing loss are numerous. In children, the Eustachian tube may be blocked by swollen adenoids which interfere with the delicate and intricate mechanism by which sound waves travel through the ear.

Other conductive hearing losses result from infections in the middle ear, allergies, wax accumulation, and a bone abnormality called otosclerosis.

In nearly every conductive hearing problem, medical or surgical treatments will restore normal hearing or stabilize the present level.

Inner-ear damage and hearing loss may be sensorineural. Sensorineural hearing loss occurs when the auditory nerve is damaged to the point of preventing transmission of nerve impulses from the ear to the brain.

Professional ear and hearing specialists can distinguish this problem from conductive hearing loss. The most common causes of sensorineural hearing impairment are prolonged exposure to excessive noise, aging and infection.

In most of these cases, hearing deficits are improved by a properly fitted hearing aid. Hearing aids shouldn't be purchased before a proper evaluation is performed by an otologist, otolaryngologist or a physician trained in hearing disorders.

In less common cases, sensorineural hearing loss may result from a genetic disease or a birth-related problem. The result usually is permanent, but a combination of hearing aids and language therapy may improve a person's ability to communicate.

Temporary and permanent hearing loss can be successfully prevented in many cases by protecting the ears, since noise exposure is a major cause.

Ear muffs should be required equipment in noisy environments, especially for those exposed to noises which exceed the level set by the federal government.

Hearing loss can be prevented in many cases by promptly treating ear infections, allowing professionals to clean the ears, and avoiding prolonged use of medications which may cause hearing damage.

People more than 65-years-old should have regularly scheduled hearing examinations by an otologist, audiologist, or otolaryngologist. Frequent exams also are recommended for people who may be predisposed to hearing loss.

This "Matter of Health" was prepared in cooperation with otolaryngologists on staff at University Hospital at the University of Mississippi Medical Center — Mississippi's only health sciences campus. Readers may suggest future topics by writing to "Matters of Health," 2500 North State Street, Jackson, Mississippi 39216-4505.

State's 'Farmer of the Year' to be selected Friday at MSU

Six Mississippi farmers have been nominated for the Mississippi "Farmer of the Year" award. The award, sponsored by the Mississippi Network, will be presented at a banquet on Friday at Mississippi State University.

This year's nominees are M. F. "Sonny" Baskin III of Yazoo City; John C. Hewes of Woodville; Robert Mashburn of Bolton; W. Bryant McRee Jr. of Grenada; M. H. White Jr. of Olive Branch; and D. Roger Yant of Inverness.

The entrants were nominated by various agricultural organizations including the Mississippi Cattlemen's Association, Mississippi Soybean Association, the Mississippi Dairy Herd Improvement Association and the Catfish Farmers of Mississippi.

Baskin operates the Eldorado Plantation in Yazoo County. His operation includes cotton, soybeans, grain sorghum and cattle. Among the honors Baskin has won is the "Cotton Grower of the Year" award in 1979.

He is involved in a number of organizations, including the Farm Bureau, the American Soybeans Association and Cotton Incorporated.

Hewes has been nominated by the Mississippi Cattlemen's Association. His operation includes registered Simmental and Simbrah cattle.

Mashburn's operation includes soybeans, cotton, wheat, grain sorghum and cattle.

He is active in many local, state and national agricultural organizations.

McRee has a commercial egg operation in Grenada. He uses the latest in poultry management practices to get the most production along with the highest quality eggs possible.

Olive Branch farmer White will represent dairymen in the "Farmer of the Year" competition.

White operates an 80-head dairy operation.

Catfish farmers will be represented by Yant.

Yant farms over 1,500 acres of catfish ponds near Morgan City. He says he enjoys farming and is excited about being involved in the development of a new industry.

He is currently serving as president of the Catfish Farmers of Mississippi and is on the board of directors of the Catfish Farmers of America.

This year's award is being sponsored by Mississippi Chemical Corporation, MFC and their local co-ops, Shell Chemical Corporation, Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, Rightway Travel Agency and Delta Airlines.

Gov. Bill Allain

LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE GAINS CONSIDERATION

At this point in the 1986 Legislative session, I would like to give you a brief update on the status of the Governor's recommendation to the lawmakers. Of course, the pending actions on appropriations bills impacts a great deal on many of our recommendations, but some of the matters we called to the Legislature's attention have been given fair consideration.

To date, sentiment in the Legislature remains in opposition to a tax increase. A great deal of sentiment now exists, however, to find alternatives to taxes. Major evidence of that growing mood surfaced last week when the House of Representatives began compiling lists of recommended programs that could be terminated, curtailed, or restructured to ease the burden on the state budget.

These recommendations are historic because they represent a major change in the philosophical approach to considering the state budget. Instead of just giving agencies what they want, they are now being forced to justify every dollar in your taxes that they ask for. In addition, the idea of cutting or stopping programs means that many legislators now favor setting priorities for state government.

Chief among those priorities is education. As I recommended to the Legislature, they have funded both early childhood education and the additional $1,000 teacher pay raise. Efforts to undo these actions have failed.

While the Legislature has not accepted our Executive Budget in total, and combined all special funds (except federal money and bonded indebtedness) and general funds, lawmakers have made cuts in some of these special funds and have more closely scrutinized these agencies than ever before.

Throughout the budget process, the legislators have also agreed with us about the need to determine essential and non-essential programs.

In the area of government reorganization, the Legislature has approved gubernatorial succession and you will have the opportunity to vote on this proposal in November. Unfortunately, they killed our recommendation to create a Department of Transportation, a move that I still believe will assist in planning for economic development for the future of the state.

While the issue of university consolidation remains unresolved, Legislators are in a dialogue with higher education officials and the State College Board for finding ways to consolidate programs and to improve the quality of our university system (and to make it work as a system).

The passage of interstate banking will aid a great deal in the economic development of this state, as will a bond proposal to assist state and local government in funding special jobs projects. Both proposals were recommended in the Governor's State of the State address.

To date, I am disappointed with legislative action regarding law enforcement. The white collar crime division for the Attorney General's office was again defeated, despite support from the last three attorneys general. In the present budget crisis, new programs are near impossibility. Likewise, increasing our drug agents is difficult, but legislators are supporting protecting law enforcement from the budget crunch.

The election law reform act, which we supported, has been approved by both chambers and will assist in making our election process more functional.

Much has been done in this session to date; much work remains.

Spring registration planned for Vista tutoring program

Spring registration is underway for the ongoing tutorial program of Volunteers in Service to America in Bay St. Louis.

The student assistance program is conducted under the auspices of Gulf Coast Community Action Agency's Hancock County Branch at 300 Third St.

"We are now working with H.B.J. Bookmark Reading Program, Harcourt Brace Javanovich material levels 1-5 which is an optional supplement designed to provide extra learning opportunities for individual children who need them," according to Ms. Gerry Lang, program spokesman.

The reading program provides individual instruction that directly supplements the regular classroom program, and utilizes non-professional teacher aides and volunteers to satisfy the instructional needs of individual children.

"What Vista does is to help teachers meet this challenge by providing volunteer aides," Lang added.

This program works with individual needs one on one. Teacher input on the needs of a child, assessment of reading, spelling comprehension is also essential to success of the tutoring program, Lang added.

Parent participation as volunteers is also needed. Volunteers may sign in for one to three hours in the afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m.

New registration will be from 2 until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Summer months are from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. as the need arises.

"Parents, teachers, volunteers, we need you to help children in our community," Lang said.

Security system firm names Hancock dealer

Kamlo, Inc. has been appointed a Helpline personal emergency response and security systems dealer in Bay St. Louis.

Helpline is a service offered by Cable Call Corporation, a division of Universal Security Instruments, Inc., a publicly owned company in Owings Mill, Maryland.

Barry W. Dennis, president, noted that Kamlo, Inc. will now offer to consumers and small businesses Helpline systems which include wireless products for detection and reporting of fire, police and medical emergencies to a central monitoring station.

Helpline's products and services are designed to be economical and available to customers who have historically not become involved in security products because of price.

Leo Kowal of Diamondhead, the new dealer, stated that they are willing to perform a free home security survey for any customer who so requests and that there is no obligation involved in this survey.

BaySide volunteers name Fayard chief

BY DENA BESNETTE
Long-time Hancock County firefighter Richard Fayard has been named chief of the BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department.

Fayard, who is in the process of moving to BaySide Park, said he had been invited to address a meeting of the volunteers on firefighting and was named chief about a week later.

"You know, it makes you feel good when people do something like that," Fayard said.

"I've been out of firefighting since about 1980 except for arson investigations and I'm pleased to be getting back into it."

The Waveland native is presently a member of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department Arson Investigation Squad and the Hancock County Firefighters Association and is former chief of the Bay St. Louis and National Space Technology Laboratories fire departments.

Fayard's career as a firefighter goes back to more than 20 years ago, when his brother Kenny Fayard was chief of the Waveland Fire Department and he joined him as a volunteer.

"I've been a firefighter most of my life. When Kenny and I were just young boys we would hear the whistle and go help out on grass fires and such."

"When I first started I didn't want to be a fireman; I wanted to be a policeman. I didn't like it but then I went to the first State Fire Academy School ever held and I came back with a whole different attitude," Fayard said.

"It's a very challenging job. It builds your adrenalin up quickly."

Fayard eventually moved from Waveland to Bay St. Louis and became chief of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department in 1971. In 1978, he became chief at NSTL and served a year in the post until retiring from firefighting to become a self-employed carpenter.

"When I was chief we'd all go to State Fire Academy schools once a year. I plan to try to get as many schools as I can set up for BaySide, because the biggest thing we need is training," he said.

He added that he has worked with the BaySide volunteers in the past through the association and is impressed with their enthusiasm.

"As long as you can get people who are really willing like these and can train them a little to protect themselves, you can have a good department," he explained.

In addition to training, the BaySide volunteers need more equipment. Since the firefighters are volunteers rather than professionals, the department receives only a small amount of state funding. Most of its operating costs come from donations, fundraising projects and membership drives.

Fayard said the department has two homemade trucks and one of his ambitions is to obtain a 750-gallon pumper truck. In addition, protective clothing, hoses and other equipment is in short supply at BaySide Park.

The new chief, however, is used to fundraising projects. The Fayard brothers, along with Jay Marsh and Ed Friloux, were the organizers of a 1978 fund drive that obtained three sets of Jaws of Life for the county.

He was also one of the founders of the Hancock County Firefighter's Association and was its president from 1974 to 1975. One of the association's major projects during that time was setting up a radio network for all of the county's fire departments.

"That was the most important thing that ever happened to us. The radio network enabled us to talk to each other. Before that, each department was on a different frequency and there was no way to talk to each other during an emergency," Fayard commented.

In addition, the Bay St. Louis Fire Department underwent several improvements without a tax increase while Fayard was chief. These included upgrading the city's fire insurance rating, adding two trucks and increasing the staff from three firefighters to more than 12.

The new chief said he feels growth is essential for the BaySide department, both because he feels the area will grow and because the department covers a large area with a high number of wood and grass fires.

In addition to BaySide Park subdivision, the department covers Ansley, Springwood Park and Bayou Phillips.

'Frontline' to examine AIDS

In a departure from its usual format, 'Frontline' with Judy Woodruff presents a special two-hour live broadcast devoted to the complex subject of the disease AIDS, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

'AIDS—A National Inquiry' can be seen at 8 p.m., Tuesday, March 25, on Mississippi ETV.

After a 35-minute case-study type of documentary about an AIDS victim named Fabian Bridges, a panel of experts led by Harvard Law School Professor Charles Nesson are asked the tough questions about how Americans should respond to the urgent public health issue of AIDS.

In the documentary, Fabian Bridges moves from city to city, claiming that he's living promiscuously. His actions baffled legal, medical and public health officials who do not stop him. They can't. No laws exist.

In this special report, 'Frontline's' panel of legislative, law enforcement, legal and medical experts discuss whether a federal policy of uniform national guidelines should exist. The group will examine the legal, political and moral sides of the issue and weigh an AIDS victim's rights vs. the public health rights of society.

On Wednesday, March 26, Mississippi ETV and the Jackson Journal of Business will present the first in a series of five national business teleconferences: 'AIDS in the Workplace.'

The teleconference will be held in the ETV auditorium from noon until 3 p.m. and will take an in-depth look into the legal and business-related aspects of AIDS.

National experts will conduct the teleconference. The viewing audience may call in questions, and reference notebooks will be provided. Anyone interested in the teleconference at the ETV auditorium should contact Susan Wolfe at ETV: 982-6507.

'No Hard Times' to be filmed in Mississippi

Mississippi Department of Economic Development Film Office reports that DBA Communications, Inc. — an Emmy Award winning independent film production company from Los Angeles, CA — will produce a feature film based on the life of Jimmie Rodgers, the father of country music.

The estimated $3.5 - $4 million production, entitled 'No Hard Times,' will be filmed in Mississippi, beginning in the fall, with a majority of the on-location production taking place in Rodgers' hometown of Meridian.

The announcement, which was made at the Temple Theatre in Meridian, follows a two-year period of negotiations with the Rodgers family and Peer-Southern, the publishing company controlling the rights to Rodgers' music, and several months of contact with the MDED Film Office.

LEADING INDEPENDENT
MDED Film Office Director John Horhn said that 'No Hard Times' represents the type of film-making of which Mississippians can be proud.

"Not only is this film about a legendary Mississippian, but it's being produced by an organization in the front-rank of independent film makers."

Horhn said the increasing competition among states to attract studio-backed productions enhances the importance of independent film productions.

"In my opinion," he continued, "this film presents Mississippi with an opportunity to begin fostering more independent, on-location film productions in the state."

WHY JIMMIE RODGERS?
When asked why his company had chosen to film the Jimmie Rodgers' story, DBA Communications, Inc. Chairman Dave Bell said: "The history of our company is to do films with something more than just entertainment value. For us, the life of Jimmie Rodgers is the story of a man who succeeds beyond all odds. It's a classical rags to riches story with a tremendous amount of heart."

Harry Wiland, the director for 'No Hard Times,' adds, "Jimmie Rodgers was a hero in the best sense of the word, and as a director, I'm interested in stories about people who inspire us. That's what this film will be about. Like Rodgers' life, it will be a true story, not without tragedy."

Wiland, whose other credits include the films, 'Johnny Cash: The Man and His Music' and 'The Nashville Sound,' says, "If I can translate into film the passion that Rodgers expressed in his life, I'll have succeeded."

DBA COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
Beginning in 1969 as a two man operation, including Dave Bell and James E. Thompson, DBA Communications, Inc. now has 25 full-time employees and the company is responsible for production of a wide variety of television series like 'Alive and Well' and television specials like 'Missing: Have You Seen This Person' — a documentary which aired directly after the 1984 NBC special on missing children entitled 'Adam.'

DBA Communications has also achieved a high level of success in dramatic film production as seen in the 1983 made-for-television production 'Nadia' and, more significantly, the 1984 CBS film 'Do You Remember Love.'

This film, which starred Joanne Woodward and Richard Kiley, was nominated for six Emmys and won three, including best script, best actress, and best television film of 1985.

In considering the prospects for the Jimmie Rodgers story DBA Communications President Jim Thompson says, "If we give 'No Hard Times' the same tender loving care we gave to 'Do You Remember Love,' I believe we will have a film with tremendous success potential — both artistically and financially."

According to DBA Communications, Inc., 'No Hard Times' is scheduled for release in February 1987.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...
THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.
It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him. Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?
What about the successful business woman? She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic. Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top? Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.
ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.
At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.
DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.

Biloxi hospital offering economy meal

March is National Nutrition Month, and Biloxi Regional Medical Center's Dietary Department is offering a special nutritional treat—Nostalgia Night! Set for Wednesday, March 26, 4-6 p.m., Nostalgia Night will allow people 60 and older to celebrate 'the good old days.'

Because those 60 and older remember the days when 'life was simpler'—and certainly cheaper—Biloxi Regional is offering a meal for 75 cents. This meal includes an entree, vegetable, bread, dessert and beverage. A complete meal, much like 'ma used to make,' for only 75 cents.

The good old days are here again, at least for one night. If you're at least 60 years old, you can celebrate nostalgia and nutrition month with a 75-cent meal at Biloxi Regional Medical Center.

Just come to the Biloxi Regional cafeteria (located on the ground floor) 4-6 p.m. Wednesday, March 26, and bring at least three quarters—or the equivalent! And if you 'chauffeur' two or more people to Nostalgia Night, you get your meal free!

In addition, Biloxi Regional is arranging entertainment for the evening as well. So come by, eat, enjoy and 'reminisce.' Happy days are here again!

Grand larceny charges filed against Bay man

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Grayling J. Wilkerson, 23, of 140 Sheila Drive, Bay St. Louis was arrested Thursday and charged with grand larceny.
Bay St. Louis Detective David Murtagh said Parole Officer John Kirkland made the arrest when Wilkerson reported to the Mississippi Department of Corrections on March 20.
Bay St. Louis Police Officers assisted with the arrest at Kirkland's office in the Hancock County Courthouse.
Wilkerson allegedly stole four tires and rims off a parked 1970 Camaro near the intersection of Uman and Dunbar in early February.
The property was recovered

March 11 by the Bay police department. Bay St. Louis resident Ronnie A. Lyons was charged with receiving stolen property in the incident.
Wilkerson is currently being held in the Hancock County Jail.
Murtagh said no bond had been set since Wilkerson was on parole and grand larceny is a parole violation.
According to Department of Corrections Parole Officer James Whitson, Wilkerson was on parole for a burglary of a dwelling conviction.
He had been sentenced in November 1984 to three years in the state penitentiary but was paroled in July 1985.
Whitson said following Wilkerson's preliminary hearing for the grand larceny charge, he will have a parole hearing.

Tryouts for league will be held Friday from 6-8 p.m. and Monday from 6-8 p.m. at Little League field on Athletic Drive next to Tiger Stadium.
All players who have registered must try out at one of these times. Each player will need to bring only his or her glove, according to Terrell La Fontaine, league president.
Any player from last season who has not registered, may do so at the tryouts. There is a fee of $10.
For more information, contact LaFontaine at 467-3580 or Rene Carver at 467-7669, both after 5 p.m.

investigated by the search committee and only good reports had been received.
She also reported Thursday that the discussion of the anonymous letter from Monday's meeting was not recorded on a school board tape usually made at meetings.
Diboll added that she did not know what had happened to the tape but she intended to take the tape of Thursday's meeting with her.
Diboll said Friday she did not mean to imply that anyone had tampered with the tape.
"After listening to tapes from two meetings I believe there is a problem with the tape recording machine and will look into getting another one," she added.
Board Secretary Dominica Favre said the tape had run out during the Monday meeting and that there was no blank area on the end of the tape.
She also said the machine does not indicate when a tape is complete and she was not aware that the last part of the Monday meeting discussion was not recorded.
School board member L. D. Carter said he was aware of other occasions when the tape had run out during a meeting.
"The board does not hold anyone responsible for the tape running out before the meeting was adjourned," Carter said.
Also at the Thursday meeting Diboll told the board Oge had contacted an attorney and was proceeding with legal action against the author of the anonymous letter.
She also read a message to the board from Oge which stated:
"I and my family are extremely disheartened by the circulating and airing to the people an unsigned letter of professional and character assassination.
"The deliberate exposure of such apparently libelous material is an extremely serious matter which merits and is presently being carefully studied. The fine people of Bay St. Louis and Waveland deserve relief from these smear tactics," the Oge message continued.
"I hold no ill will toward anyone because of this. We must move forward together for our young people," the message concluded.

Diboll asked the board and the overflow crowd of parents, teachers, business and professional leaders at the meeting to join her in putting the incident of the letter behind them.
"I hope not to hear any more gossip in school because we don't have time for it," she said.
Diboll apologized for having to call the meeting saying she believes the letter should have been thrown away.
Parent and member of the North Bay Elementary PTO Frank E. Baktus added a request that the letter be disregarded.
"It is time to end this tug of war and unite behind the new superintendent. Our goal should be to make the Bay-Waveland school system the best in the country," Baktus said.
Parent Milton Bernard told the board he was glad the letter had been put before the public.
If the school receives an anonymous bomb threat, will the phone just be hung up or will the school be cleared of students while it is investigated, Bernard asked.
In other business the board voted 3-2 to offer Oge a salary of $47,500.
Carter made the motion for the salary figure twice before it was seconded by Board Member Reginald Robinson.
Diboll stepped down from her roll as president to break a tie vote. Cyril Glover and Penrose voted against the motion.
Glover said he did not think the board should offer Oge an amount $4,000 higher than what it took Superintendent J. D. McCullough 27 years to get.
Also at the meeting Diboll read a letter from Nathan L. Barber requesting the State Ethics Commission be contacted for an advisory opinion concerning a possible conflict of interest with the legal secretary of the school board's attorney serving as a member of the school board.
Diboll said after the meeting was adjourned the matter would be brought up at the next school board meeting because a vote had not been taken Thursday.

Responding to the fire call were on-duty firefighters Gary Maurice, Arthur Farve and Ronald Cuevas. Other members of the fire department who were at the fire included Terry McCroy, Louis Prendergast, Ronald Collins and Lizana.

Volunteers firefighters at the scene included Anthony Alexis, Don Smith, Keith Schaffer and Bay Police Officer Tommy Goodwin.
By the year 2000, the U.S. Census Bureau predicts six out of every 10 people in the United States will live either in the South or West.

The construction is typical of the period and consists of wood frame with interior plaster walls strengthened with hair. The ceilings are tongue and groove and plaster and are 14 feet high. The largest of the rooms, 1000 square feet, housed the dry goods and has been restored. Future plans include a nature trail, vegetable garden, wild-flowers, and landscape maintenance by the children.

3. MR. and MRS. MILTON BAUER, 7720 Puna Place. Skylights enhance the custom design and furnishings. Through the hardwood floor entry hall, one walks under the unusual "catwalk" which connects the Master Bedroom with steam room, to the Loft/Office. All heat and A/C units were installed UNDER the house which allows vents in the floors. Of interest in the two story high "great room" is a conversation pit, wet bar, and Georgia Stoneframed fireplace. The deck area boasts a "cabana".

4. MR. and MRS. HERBERT LARSON, 6838 Hilo. This custom home was built for entertaining. Unusually large "great room", overlooked by a balcony and large glassed-in sun porch. Don't miss the sunken bar or the stone-wrapped hot tub in the Master Suite.

8. MR. and MRS. A.L. BUFFAT, 7423 Mahalo Hui Drive. The original of this lovely home burned to the ground, July 2, 1984. Clubs, Auxiliaries

By Dr. Esther Oschmann
Publicity Chairman

The meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to the Clement R. Bontemp Post No. 139 was held at the post home in Bay St. Louis on March 10 at 7 p.m. with Agnes Wilkerson presiding.

The president reported that Friday, March 14, was the American Legion's 67th birthday and was celebrated with a program and dinner.

Agnes Wilkerson reminded everyone if they have a candidate for 2 scholarships being given by the auxiliary for $500 each.

One is open to any child of a veteran, the other is open to Junior Auxiliary members only.

If you have a daughter or granddaughter who is a senior in high school and she is a member of the Junior Auxiliary please contact Agnes at 467-6098.

Mrs. Lou Wilkerson, Americanism chairman, reported that the Americanism Essay rules and Poppy Poster Contest rules will be in the schools by March 15.

All students who are interested talk to your teacher or call Mrs. Lou Wilkerson at 467-6098.

Legislative chairman, Mrs. Lucille Boudreaux, is working to have letters to senators and representatives to protect our veterans.

Membership chairman, Dr. Esther Oschmann reported the auxiliary is over quota. Membership is the foundation on which the program of the American Legion Auxiliary is built.

The dues are important to carry on all programs for God and country.

Hospital and rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Mattie North, reported donating clothing and toiletries to needy veterans at the VA hospital and other needy veterans.

Mrs. North is asking for all eye glasses that are not being used anymore. The VA hospital can find use for them for veterans.

She is also asking for help to donate televisions and radios for hospitalized veterans who cannot go to the recreation hall.

Mrs. North works very hard preparing picnics and having Bingo parties with prizes for all the veterans who attend, usually at least 75 to 125 and sometimes more.

She also sponsors ice cream and homemade cake for the patients in locked wards at least once a month.

Mrs. North has been doing a tremendous job in caring for VA hospitalized veterans as well as all other veterans and their families.

All of these things cost a lot of money, so the auxiliary is going to hold a "Spring Fling" dance on Friday, April 25.

Keith Hoda's band will furnish the music. The tickets are $10 a couple and can be purchased from Legion and Auxiliary members or call Mrs. Mattie North at 467-5770.

Mrs. North wants you to know this money will go towards the hospital fund for all veterans. This is a very important project of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Many volunteers help with parties and picnics. Mrs. Roz Weathers, chaplain, has made many caps, slippers, lap blankets and bibs.

Volunteers who help in all projects include Miss Agnes Wilkerson, president; Dr. Esther Oschmann, first vice president; Mrs. Mattie North, second vice president and hospital chairman; Mrs. Roz Weathers, chaplain; Mrs. Matt Rhodes; Mrs. Evelyn Burns; Mrs. Carmelia Boyd; Mrs. Anna Brehm; Mrs. Billy Tudury; Mrs. Ursula Farve; Mrs. Pat Dillon; Mrs. Lena Cuevas; Mrs. Orin Planchard; Mrs. Phyllis Moran; Hazel Wohlschlegel.

The men from the post helping are Horace Ruhl, Jessie Burns, Roland Wohlschlegel, Ed Weathers, Russell Elliott and Gilbert Gayout.

And now, a very important project of the auxiliary is choosing "Little Miss Poppy".

Miss Danielle Lind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lind of Kiln, has been chosen "Little Miss Poppy" of 1986 of Post 139 in Bay St. Louis.

She has been a junior member for five years and is kept very busy all year long representing American Legion Auxiliary.

She is seen along with senior members selling poppies made by the veterans at Gulfport VA hospital.

The money is used to help veterans who do not receive help from VA.

Danielle leads parades as on Veterans Day, Memorial Day, and St. Patrick's Day, as well as in the carnival parades.

She is very active in all school activities. Everyone is very proud of her.

The March Garden of the Month Award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Markel, 56123 Diamondhead Dr. East. The Fairway Yard of the Month Award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford T. Satterlee, 7614 Fairway Drive.

Mrs. George Kollasch, litter control chairman, requested Garden Club members clean up all litter in their own neighborhoods.

President Keen announced Troy Schwant as the winner of the story writing contest, "A Forrester Happening." She Keen read the winning entry chosen from the 64 received from several local schools.

A horticulture report was given by Ms. Keen on the Plumbago Auriculata and the Fatsia Japonica.

The program resulted in the scheduling of two additional sessions for color analysis of individual members.
